How to declare your concentration

A.B. sophomores preparing to enter their junior year must officially declare their intended concentration prior to selecting courses for the fall semester. The 2020 concentration declaration period is April 2-20. Each department has its own prerequisite courses and steps required to enter the major.

Review the general department information for prospective A.B. concentrators and follow the instructions for concentrators or new majors for your intended department. Should you have questions, please contact the department office to make an appointment with the departmental Director of Undergraduate Studies or a designated departmental adviser.

Once you have reviewed the information provided by the department, please complete the process outlined below to declare your intended concentration. Once you have completed this process, you will be able to enroll in courses for the coming semester:

STEP 1. Check that you have met the departmental requirements and declare your intention to concentrate:

Indicate your intended concentration on the Concentration Declaration web site between April 2 and April 20, 2020. (Some departments may require you to complete additional steps prior to this deadline. Refer to the Registrar's page on A.B. Concentration Information or attend sophomore open houses for more information.) Intended concentrations are processed overnight. Departments will have access to your academic records one business day after you complete this form. Note, entry into a concentration is subject to final approval by the department and assumes successful completion of pre-requisite courses.

STEP 2. Complete the Departmental Academic Planning Form (DAPF):

One business day after you have declared your concentration, your DAPF will be available for you to complete in TigerHub. You must submit your completed DAPF in TigerHub before meeting with your departmental Director of Undergraduate Studies or designated departmental advisor, who will need to review and approve it. Note: you must declare your intended concentration before both you and your department are able to view your DAPF.

STEP 3. Follow department instructions for course advising and confirmation of concentration:

After submitting your DAPF, review your course plans with a departmental adviser, and secure approval for your courses for the coming semester. Some departments require additional steps to complete entry into the concentration (e.g., submission of additional forms). Be sure to follow all instructions from your department.

STEP 4: After your departmental adviser approves your DAPF, you will be able to enroll in courses April 22-24.
